

The project aim at developing a mathematical model for HIV-Pneumonia co-infection showing the co-infection with treatment and determine mathematical significance of the developed model