

The aim of the study is to determine the amount of Omega 3 and omega 6 and compare the ratio in chicken products from chickens fed on Spirulina microalgae-fortified feeds and those not fed on the fortified feeds.