

Effective use of modern assistive technology in the academic performance of secondary school students with visual impairment in Kenya